NOTED PICKPOCKET IN FORT GUARDHOUSE

Frank Martin Said to Have Operated All Over Europe and America.

IDENTIFIED BY MORGAN BRADFORD

After Being Identified the Prisoner Acknowledge His Name, But Said He Was Simply Stepping at Old Point for a Few Days—Arrest Said to Be Important One.

Frank E. Martin, alias "Red" Martin, who is said to be the prince of pickpockets, with an international reputation, is a prisoner in the guardhouse at Fort Monroe. Martin is accused of being a suspicious character and it has not yet been decided whether Martin will be turned over to the State authorities or prosecuted by the United States officials.

Martin, who is said to have operated in Berlin, Paris and London, and has often been arrested, was discovered on Old Point wharf at noon yesterday by Detectives Wells and Folks. Martin's actions aroused the suspicion of the two detectives and they watched him for sometime. As he was preparing to take a steamer for Norfolk the detectives took charge of him and told him he was under arrest as being a suspicious character.

Identified by Morgan Bradford. Martin was then taken by Detectives Folks and Wells to the Snowwood Inn, where Government Detective, Mr. Morgan Bradford, looked him over. Mr. Bradford soon identified Martin as the prince of pickpockets and after some hesitation Martin finally admitted his identity, telling Mr. Morgan that he simply came down to Old Point for a few days visit.

It was then determined by the detectives to take Martin to the fort guardhouse, so that they may secure evidence against him, if possible, connecting him with the several cases reported from the Ocean View side of the Roads.

Detective Bradford was highly elated over the capture of Martin by Detectives Wells and Folks and he declared that the arrest of the man is one of the most important that has occurred in this section since the opening of the Jamestown Exposition.

Detective Morgan stated last night that Martin had served time in Berlin, Paris and London for plying his light-fingered profession.

Detective Bradford has given orders to the men under him to make life hard for all suspicious looking individuals who come to Old Point and Martin soon found out this determination.

Mr. Horace Gardner Received a Gash in His Head by the Tumble.

Mr. Horace Gardner, a clerk in C. W. Hickman's grocery store, had a bad fall from his bicycle in East Queen street yesterday afternoon. Mr. Gardner was riding along at a medium rate of speed and when in front of the Augusta hotel he lost control of his bike and was thrown to the pavement. His head struck the brick and he received a deep wound of several inches in length. He was taken to Murray's pharmacy, where he was given attention, and later removed to the office of Dr. Harry D.
